ZEBRA CENTAURI

INFORMATION

Zebra Centauri is a music production duo based in Dresden, Germany. After organising events as part of the dubious Floppy collective for several years, they developed their musical love affair in countless hours of excessive jam sessions.

With results varying greatly in quality, tempo and style, they soon discovered their shared love for dragged beats and weird synths, as well as a common disregard for established dance-floor standards like easily mixable intros or popular tempo choices.

The Zebra likes to run free and do what it feels like. And it often feels like slowly scuttling across the tundra with the occasional neigh that ceremoniously sounds like a deep resonant synth. In October 2015, the two released their first EP called Ochsenfrosch (meaning Bullfrog in German) on URS records, URSL's little sister.
